Inclusivity Fund Advisory Committee

As we enter 2019, the Inclusivity Fund Advisory Committee is entering its final area of work with the goal of beginning grant applications before the end of the year. The Inclusivity Fund, established during the recent SCFD reauthorization process, was established by the Denver Museum of Nature & Science, the Denver Art Museum, the Denver Center for the Performing Arts, the Denver Botanic Gardens and the Denver Zoo. In 2018, the Inclusivity Fund Advisory Committee selected Mile High United Way as the grants administrator for the fund. Current work includes efforts to put in place a framework for grant making from the fund.

Resources for organizations

The 240-seat Cleo Parker Robinson Dance Theatre is available for rent to create, rehearse, and perform works. It is an affordable arts cultivation hub with 3 studios, and front/back-of-house support with full theatre tech services.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD

The SCFD Board of Directors entertained a full agenda in their January meeting to launch their 2019 work.

Highlights from the meeting include:

- The appointment of Raymond H. Gonzales as the new Adams County representative.
- The presentation of a 2019 Economic Forecast of Metro Denver.
- Information and updates on the SCFD rebranding process.

Go to our website to read a full set of meeting minutes.

Thanks to the Mexican Cultural Center for hosting the Jan. 24 meeting. The center, founded in 1992, strives to promote and maintain the richness of Mexican culture. In 2017, their efforts served 37,000 people. Learn more about the center here.

The next SCFD Board meeting will be held at Thornton Arts, Sciences, and Humanities Council at 9209 Dorothy Blvd. Thornton, CO 80229. For a full calendar click here.
