Resources for Good

Help CBCA honor the best in business for the arts

CBCA is now accepting nominations for the 2023 Business for the Arts Awards. CBCA's Business for the Arts Awards celebrate innovative cross-sector partnerships, generous philanthropy, creative businesses, and stellar leadership from across the state. The annual awards luncheon is the only statewide event honoring outstanding business partnerships and engagement with the arts. Through a competitive nomination and judging process, CBCA will recognize 8 organizations with an Arts & Business Partnership Award, plus 4 individual leadership awards. All nomination materials are due by Friday, November 11. Here is a direct link to the Nomination Form.

Colorado Gives Day is coming up!

Colorado Gives Day is just around the corner on Dec. 6. It's a great way to gain some fundraising momentum for your organization. Coloradans from across the state use this day to make end-of-year contributions to a host of non-profits. Yours could be one. If you aren't already connected, check out the Colorado Gives Day site and see if the fundraising opportunity is the right fit for your group.

Learning opportunities with the Collaborative

Creating Soft Landings: Embracing Students Returning from the Pandemic

Facilitator: Patrick Elkins-Zeglarski, Denver Center for the Performing Arts

As we emerge away from the pandemic crisis, students have a heightened need for their social emotional development, even the smallest social interactions and behaviors have been impacted. Educators within the scientific and cultural sphere are uniquely positioned to empower students to discover their better selves. This workshop will give you skills in student management and setting expectations for student success when engaging with your organization.

For Development Staff and Executives

Deepen Donor Engagement Through Ethical Wills

Presenter: Nancy Sharp

Thur Nov 3, 10am-11am

Location: On Zoom

Award winning author, speaker, and story muse Nancy Sharp will offer an overview about how the ancient practice of writing ethical wills (or legacy letters) can be used to strengthen donor relationships over time and across the generations. This is an opportunity to learn more about how the rich tradition of legacy letters can align with philanthropic giving. You'll walk away with new ideas on how to strengthen relationships with donors of today and tomorrow.

Engage with Us

SCFD Shout Out

Each month, we'll be highlighting the efforts of one of our funded partners to help elevate the role that SCFD funding plays in their ability to serve their community. We're hoping you will help us by sharing something you've seen or your organization has done that really hit home. Maybe it was a great curtain speech. Maybe it was a creative use of the SCFD logo and tagline. We're looking for ways to encourage the effort, so that all of us continue to benefit from the support. Email your photos, stories and video to Arlene Hicks.

It's not too late to join us on the SCFD Communications Committee!

The SCFD Communications Committee is focused on joining together collectively to lift awareness of the SCFD through the networks and communities already reached by your organization. The committee will develop and review resources as well as track activity and encourage participation. We want each of the more than 300 organizations funded by the district to join us in whatever way they can to encourage and support awareness of the SCFD across the metro area.

The committee will meet quarterly as a group. If you are interested in joining, it's not too late! Just reach out to Michele Ames and let her know you want to be added to the mailing list. Our next meeting will be from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Jan. 11, so save the date and join us.

Register your Free Days with us

If you have days, programs, or events to share with the public, you can submit them for inclusion on the SCFD website. As we work toward more normal operations across 2022, we have reactivated this calendar, typically the most visited page on our site. Submit your Free Days.

News from the Board

The SCFD Board of Directors oversees the operation of the district as well as all fund distributions.

- The next meeting of the SCFD Board of Directors will be held virtually at 1 p.m. on Nov. 17. Get more information for joining meetings and see the full
